

Humanity's Limits

The God of all creation is boundless. The God of all creation is precisely this. Creationism, evolution, the arguments continue, but is there any difference in God's mind? What has the creator revealed for our insignificant minds to understand? Perhaps too simple, but it might be just this. We are spiritual beings in a physical existence that cannot be fully understood. For all the expertise of science, which might eventually explain this universe we live in, will it ever determine where it is? Will science ever answer this question? Do other universes exist? Mystery will always envelop us, as it always should, the nature of an all-knowing God and his created. The humble part for me then, is this.

The spiritual child in me embraces the wonder of a God who could create the universe, and all that it contains, in six days and rest on the seventh.

The spiritual adult in me, embraces the wonder of a God who could create this universe and all that it contains, reflecting with perfect magnificence His profound power, and that He is timeless.

To constrain God to either understanding attempts to place limits on God. The God of all creation is boundless! The God of all creation is precisely this!

Humanity's Fatal Fall

True love, freedom and responsibility further God's work of creation, Humanity's noblest task. A generation of false prophets worked their craft against creation. Denying it's once noble pinnacle, the final and former great bastion of freedom succumbed through legal malfeasance and decimated creation. It was subtle and it was sinister. Treachery triumphed and the anti-life forces had a strategic victory. If morality was in your way you could lawfully eliminate it. Consummate contaminated human pride spoke ominously in 1973.

Allegiance to Almighty God was terminated. Love and freedom were torn asunder. Capitulation of responsibility was complete. Legally killing it's unborn, humanity's future was lost and its end was sealed. Denying the life it created, humanity allowed its most precious progeny to be ruled non-entities, and thereby denied itself the right to exist. Humanity's climb with God was finished, as was love, and freedom, and responsibility.

Humanity mocked God's law and declared in 1973, it would allow anything. What is being reaped since that decision is the ascension of every anti-life aberration with continued legal malfeasance? Anti-life is immorality. It used to be clear. The false prophets of today are masters of concealment. It is still real and still exists. It is a cancer on creation and its prophets yield only death.

Lofty words without action are meaningless. Most who could act appear lost, becoming anti-life participants in its many manifest forms, through indifference or unwillingness to take any credible moral stand. The will to turn back appears lost. Morality declines, humanity is debased and false prophets seem victorious. A quarter of a generation of humanity is lost forever and more follow.

The God of all creation sent Moses in his day to deal with immorality and lead a faithful remnant to the Promised Land. Moses was the instrument of God's Law and God's anger. What made God angry then still does. The created cannot change the Creator. Is ours the day when the God of all creation will personally deal with humanity's collective immorality and then gather any faithful remnant into His promised kingdom?

Humanity's Loss

Love creates life. The proponents of diversity have it all wrong when they demand alternate life style acceptance into the fabric of humanity. How pathetic, that a country of such unheralded freedom is producing girls who think they are boys, and boys who think they are girls. How pathetic that "responsible" adults, acquiesce in this facade and grant respectability to this affront to humanity. Alternate life style is a choice, pure and simple.

It is a choice of sexuality over humanity. It has nothing to do with love because it is lifeless, not life giving. Human beings are not driven by sex, they recognize its importance, learn to control it, and grow in the process. Those who would have us believe otherwise have refused to grow up. Those who would have us believe otherwise are at work against humanity. Those who would have us believe otherwise challenge our fortitude. There is no fear of those who choose this alternative life style, only pity. They have missed the opportunity to reach their full creative potential. How pathetic.

Humanity's Enemies

Our lawmakers may soon claim conquest over a prime force assaulting our country. Who will be the victors and who will be the vanquished? Their imposition of the "vice"-chip is an indicator of who is winning and who is not.

The v-chip will secure autonomy and virtual independence from responsible social action for the entertainment industry. Entertainment will claim, with our lawmakers' blessing, that societal responsibility is totally ours. Entertainment's dominant theme has been steadily gravitating to the lowest common denominator, overt barbarism, and the antithesis of domestic tranquility. Entertainment, the subtle educator, while it could be a force for social good, prefers instead to emulate the dehumanizing educational role that was provided in the Roman coliseum 20 centuries ago.

The v-chip is touted as responsible society's shield from this dehumanizing educator, as our lawmakers would like us to believe and have us agree. The dehumanizing educator is not contained, sanitized or eliminated. Its appetite will not be slated; rather its gluttony will be reinforced. Our lawmakers at best will gain politically in the short term. The truth is that responsible society gains nothing and will be vanquished in the end.

Rational objective assessment of entertainment by an independent review was abandoned not many years ago. The independent reviewers knew the effect that entertainment could have upon us as a society. It recognized the educational influence upon society that the mediums of entertainment held subtly and overtly. It was called censoring and it worked. The industry claimed that it could "rate" itself. The assault was effective, societal foresight collapsed, and it was allowed to do so. This is a triumph for American freedom and society?

How has society benefited during this period of self-regulation? Signs of improvement will escape rational human beings. The liberal thinkers candidly observe the same result. Damage control now includes trying to replace the outlets of the dehumanizing educator (sewer) with faucets. Liberals support the sewer but don't like the criticism. They are trying to convince us that simply keeping the faucets controlled will magically protect us from those who immerse themselves in the sewer with abandon. Political foresight, in spades.

The Coliseum in Rome is a monument to an ancient government of "adults" who viewed barbarism as entertainment. Indulgence resulted in lost respect for all human values, which permeated their society and it collapsed. There is little difference between what "adults" watch today and 2000 years ago. And the same argument was probably given. "If you don't like what's going on in the coliseum, don't go in." We as a nation seem also to be turning into what we watch. With our lawmakers' blessing, history will continue to repeat itself. The v-chip is a counterfeit shield. It really means entertainment's "victory".

Humanity's Witnesses

Witnesses to truth have always permeated life, regardless of efforts by the witnesses to raw human power to silence them. The Eternal Author of Truth was conceived into human history. Pilate asked "And what is truth?" The Author of Truth had already born witness to truth in his life for all to see, understand and embrace. That truth was love. Fearing love, many tried to eliminate Him and many during his ministry hated Him. For Pilate, power was the only truth and it had nothing in common with love. Power meant absolute control of people, their lives, and their deaths. In contrast, love demanded compassion and responsibility. Pilate acknowledged “no fault in this man” and let a violent mob decide the outcome. Pilate became the instrument, the witness to raw human power, through which the life of the Author of Truth was violently terminated.

We, each and every one, on the other hand are conceived into eternity. Human life for us began at conception, a biological reality. Deep in the fabric of our being the Author of Truth planted the essence of that reality. Those who admit to it embrace each new life with love. Those who fear that love, assume again, that raw human power alone, can silence reality. Love creates; raw human power always destroys. We, like Pilate, must answer his very question “And what is truth?” The violent mob has assumed respectability today. It has taken the form of clinics where witnesses to raw human power now operate. Those inside violently terminate unborn human lives. Their partners outside demonstrate indifference to the violence and happily “escort” more unborn human beings to a similar fate. Truth is ignored, laws are corrupt, and human life is terminated. The violent mob has blind-sided all but a faithful few.

Witnesses to truth still exist. They assemble quietly and prayerfully outside the clinics and bear witness to the truth of their conception and their solidarity with the unborn, whose lives are in mortal danger. The witnesses to raw human power have made every effort to silence those witnesses and the violence against the unborn within the clinics continues unabated. Raw human power enjoys absolute control over the life or death of the unborn and will do all in its power to defeat those who oppose them. Those in government, who have allowed this state of affairs, have become co-conspirators with those in the clinics. They are also a part of the violent mob and it strongly suggests that only outside intervention will ever end the violence against the unborn.

Eternal Author of Truth, please return in glory, intervene, and bring your justice to this world!

Humanity’s Heroes

The path to sainthood may be very long or surprisingly short. The lives of acknowledged saints give credence to this fact. Most probably feel that personal sainthood is a noble goal but attainment is not a practical reality. We are too close to our faults to recognize what others may see as good in us. The truly heroic continue to stumble forward trying to do good in spite of their faults. The truly heroic accept their vocation in life, accept their obligations regarding that vocation and ask for God’s grace to live that vocation each day.

Humanity’s single Treasure

“Our tainted nature’s solitary boast” as poet William Wordsworth spoke of Mary. Mary is, the perfect creation of Almighty God. Beautiful sunrises, breathtaking sunsets, and all the creativity of human energies in between, fail in comparison with Mary. Our humble attempt to describe the many qualities and attributes of Our Lady in her Litany, surely fall short of those known to Almighty God. Mary as it pleases you, we humbly ask for your continued intercession for a weak and sinful humanity.

Humanity’s End

Human beings, male and female He made them, and charged them to procreate, and they knew Him who had created them. He created the animal kingdom, which knew Him not, and gave it in service to the male and the female.

Thirty years have passed since humanities fatal fall. Now the final curtain is unveiled. Not sated with destroying what it creates it has taken the last step and will now destroy itself through replication. The uniqueness of the human family will be finished. What had separated humanity from the animal kingdom has now been embraced and is proposed as the panacea for the future. Sinking to the level of animal replication was not included in the original charge. Our collective end must be approaching quickly.

Humanity's Final Four

How must the God of all creation and all humanity view this final state of affairs? What can be observed today regarding the created and their Creator? His Infinite patience, though inexhaustible, must be coming to an end in our regard. Peace, freedom, equality and brotherhood, God given qualities, continue to escape our grasp. What will result because of it? Four principal forces are at work today. These are atheist, pagan, fanatic and believer. The first three are in direct opposition to the fourth although they will not join forces. Nations, as regards their creator, are now atheist, pagan or fanatic. World domination is the common objective of these three and complete suppression of any who oppose them. Within these nations believers may exist in varying degree but do not hold power.

Atheists deny God and do evil in the name of the state.

Pagans ignore God and do evil in the name of freedom.

Fanatics defy God and do evil in the name of God.

Believers love God and do good in His name.

Individually the first three recognize believers as their most serious obstacle. All three have a futility of purpose that will ultimately lead to failure. Collectively humanity is at a point in its history where it not only has the means to end all life, it also seems determined to accomplish this. Life and love have truly lost their meaning. Does a truly virtuous nation of believers exist anywhere today?
